HPD Enforces Closure Order at Local Businesses

In an effort to limit public gathering because of the worldwide COVID-19 pandemic, the Huntsville Police Department last week forced closure of some businesses. The stores were violating an Alabama health order to close to the public.

Governor Kay Ivey ordered all non-essential businesses to close on Saturday, March 28. However, according to HPD, buildings may be closed to the public while businesses continue to operate through online orders, curbside service for purchases and deliveries.

Several businesses, especially close contact operations like hair salons, barber shops and massage places, can't work their way around the order.

As long as a nonessential business is closed to the public in keeping with the order, then it can still allow employees to work, providing they can do so at six feet a part.

"If a group of people that go to work every single day and don't have the virus, and they work in the same place and the building is locked, that's where the Alabama Department of Public Health is saying the risk is very, very minimal. That's why they allow 10 or more people, if there are no customers in the building," Lt. Michael Johnson said to a local television station.

Persons who witness violations of social distancing guidelines (six feet of space between individuals) can now report it to the Huntsville Police Department at (256) 722-7100. HPD asks for patience during the investigation period.

DHS Defines Travel Under Shelter-in-Place

As states neighboring Alabama issue shelter-in-place orders to help reduce the spread of COVID-19, some Alabama residents may have questions about how these directives affect their travel required for work, especially travel related to food and agriculture activities.

Under shelter-in-place orders, individuals are generally allowed to travel to conduct essential services, such as obtaining food and supplies, seeking medical attention, and continuing to travel for work related to critical infrastructure. While each state defines what activities are allowable under the order, the US Department of Homeland Security has released an advisory providing guidance regarding what work may be considered related to critical infrastructure.

At this time, individuals providing these essential services either in Alabama or in surrounding states can still travel under the shelter-in-place orders. Essential critical infrastructure workers as described by DHS can be found at <https://www.cisa.gov/publication/guidance-essential-critical-infrastructure-workforce>. - aces.edu

Valley Mourns Death of Longtime Educator

The Tennessee Valley is mourning the loss of yet another major local figure in the recent death of Mrs. Martha Brock Crews. Arrangements pending. The Spelman College graduate not only taught French at historic Alabama A&M University for several years, but she was also the devoted wife of legendary football coach Louis Crews.

Why Census 2020 Is So Important

For the next 10 years, lawmakers, business owners, and many others will use 2020 Census data to make critical decisions. The results will show where communities need new schools, new clinics, new roads, and more services for families, older adults, and children.

The 2020 count will impact local redistricting for City Council and School Board elected offices in addition to the number of seats representing the State of Alabama in the U.S. Congress.

The data will determine where more than $675 billion in federal dollars is allocated across the U.S. per year. An accurate count is essential for Huntsville as Census data is used for public safety and emergency preparedness.

The data also helps determine where to build local schools, libraries, police and fire stations.

The results will also inform how hundreds of billions of dollars in federal funding are allocated to more than 100 programs, including Medicaid, Head Start, block grants for community mental health services, and the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program, also known as SNAP.

Washington in One Minute

Here are the top issues and events in Washington, D.C., this week (April 6):

1. The House and Senate are in recess through at least April 20 (they were already scheduled to be in recess April 6-17).

2. President Trump announced on Saturday that he was deploying 1,000 additional military personnel to New York City to aid its coronavirus outbreak response. On Friday, the Department of Defense announced that it was altering its previous restrictions and would allow "convalescent" and "low-acuity" COVID-19 patients at the 2,500-bed Javits Federal Medical Station (FMS) in New York City, the Morial FMS in New Orleans, and the Kay Bailey Hutchinson FMS in Dallas. It also will allow patients without a negative COVID-19 test to be admitted to the 1,080-bed USNS Comfort docked at Pier 90 in New York, but each patient will still be screened by temperature and a short questionnaire pier-side.

3. House Speaker Nancy Pelosi (D-CA) last Thursday announced the creation of a special House select committee charged with overseeing the multi-trillion dollar federal response to the Coronavirus pandemic. Pelosi tapped House Democratic Whip Rep. Jim Clyburn (D-SC), the 3rd-ranking House Democrat, to lead the bipartisan panel, which will have subpoena power and will be authorized to examine all aspects of the federal response to the Coronavirus, targeting waste, fraud, price-gauging, profiteering and political favoritism.

4. On Saturday, House Speaker Pelosi sent a letter to all House Members telling them that the House would be writing a bill to bring to the floor this month to continue and expand the relief from the recently-enacted CARES Act, which she is calling "CARES 2," which would include funds for states, cities, small businesses and farmers, expand unemployment benefits, and another round of direct cash payments for Americans (read the full letter here: Letter). This is a departure from the sprawling infrastructure-focused legislation she and other top Democrats were pushing earlier in the week. Reportedly, the House bill may also retroactively repeal the $10,000 SALT cap for 2018 and 2019, create emergency worker regulations for first responders, expand paid family and medical leave, provide a 15% increase in Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) funding, include money for pensions, and a federal mandate for states to set up vote by mail for the presidential election.

5. Governors are pushing Education Secretary Betsy DeVos to immediately distribute more than $30 billion in education funds for states, school districts and higher education included in the CARES Act. Arkansas Governor Asa Hutchinson and Washington Governor Jay Inslee sent a letter to Secretary DeVos on April 3 on behalf of the National Governor urging her to make sure states have maximum flexibility so they can determine how to best address their community needs. The department hasn't provided any indication of how or when it plans to distribute the money.

6. The U.S. Supreme Court will postpone oral arguments scheduled for its April session amid the Coronavirus pandemic (it has not heard cases since March 4, although the justices continue to conduct their regular Friday conferences). Six of the 9 justices are age 65 or older. estances permit.

7. The GOP-controlled Wisconsin Legislature filed an emergency stay request with the U.S. Supreme Court asking it to block a lower-court order that extended the deadline for Wisconsin voters to submit absentee ballots in the state's upcoming primary election until April 13 – six days after the election, which is scheduled for Tuesday, April 7.

8. The Democratic National Committee is postponing the Democratic National Convention in Milwaukee from July 13 to August 17, the week before the GOP Convention's in Charlotte, NC on August 24. Former Vice President Joe Biden said on Sunday that the convention may have to be conducted in "virtual" mode.

Remembering a Local Icon

Rev. John Loritts Herndon, III

John Loritts Herndon, III was born in Lincolnton, N.C., on June 29, 1939 to John Herndon, II and Fannie Elizabeth Reinhardt. He was raised in Lincolnton by his uncle and aunt, Emory and Annie Loritts.

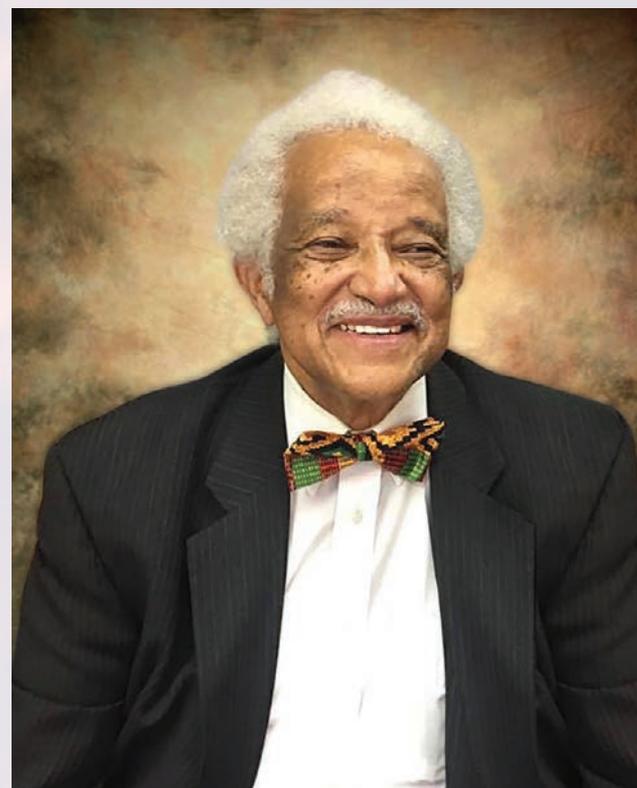

He received a B.S. degree in chemistry from Livingston College (N.C.) in 1960 and a Master of Divinity degree from Columbia Theological Seminary in 1985. His first calling was as a scientist. From 1960-65, he served as a research psychophysicologist at the School of Aerospace Medicine in San Antonio, Tex. He served as an administrator in the NASA Office of Technology Utilization in Washington, D.C., from 1969-77. He also served from 1977-81 as the Deputy Commissioner of the Georgia Department of Mental Health in Atlanta, Ga.

He received a call to ministry and began his training at Columbia Theological Seminary. He was called in 1985 to serve as a minister of the Word and Sacrament at the Fellowship Presbyterian Church in Huntsville, Ala. He served as the pastor for 24 years. After his retirement from Fellowship in 2009, John and Tommie (the phenomenal woman of his life) joined Center Grove United Methodist Church.

A few of his remarkable offerings as pastor, in the church and in the community included serving on the General Assembly Council and chairing its nominating committee; serving as Vice President of the former Advisory Committee on Ecumenical and Interfaith Relations; serving in the General Assembly Standing Committee on Theological Education; serving on the General Assembly Evangelism Committee, and being a moderator candidate for the 212th General Assembly.

His awards and honors include receiving the Livingstone College Alumni Achievement Award, the United Negro College Award for Excellence, the Alpha Phi Alpha Dr. Martin Luther King Unity Award, the Twenty Distinguished Men's Religious Service Award, Alabama A&M University Family of the Year Award, and many others.

He leaves to cherish his memories: his loving wife of 33 years, Tommie Griffin Herndon; three daughters: Nicole (Stanley) Fields, Tolonya Tonette Griffin and Natonya Nanette Griffin; four sons: Michaeljon (Latonya) Herndon, Eugene Griffin, Trent Griffin, and Turi (Devondria) Griffin; and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins, relatives and friends.

Bravo, Cuomo (vs. Trump): Who's the Real “King of Queens”?

“He that is greatest among you shall be your servant”
- Matthew 23:11, KJV.

Momma's Boys

When confronted by a “stage mom” campaigning for her disciple sons James and John to receive prominent positions in his kingdom, Jesus replied with the above scripture: the one(s) most willing to serve - rather than those angling to be served - will mostly likely lead.

The New “Must-See” TV

During this stay-at-home coronavirus crisis period where TV sports channels loop endlessly rerun contests and label them “classics,” New York Governor Andrew Cuomo's daily press briefings (approximately 10:30 a.m., CST, carried on all cable news networks) are the new “must-see” TV.

When his briefings are compared to those of President Trump, his fellow Queens, NY native, Cuomo's servant leadership style mimics more closely that of Jesus Christ, which is more credible, consistent and empathetic. For example:

- Both JC and AC apprenticed under their fathers - Cuomo under fellow three-term NY Gov. Mario Cuomo, and Christ under both his heavenly and earthly fathers;
- At crises' peaks, both showed public empathy and protection especially for their mothers - while dying on the cross, Jesus sought protection for his mother (John 19:27), while Cuomo named the new “Matilda Bill” to protect the state's most vulnerable populations (70 years and older, people with compromised immune systems and those with underlying illnesses), after his 88-year old mother;
- Neither chased the spotlight, but each was equipped and unflinching when their leadership was demanded;
- Each responded in their crisis moment, by stepping up;
- Each preferred initially to lead only in their smaller spaces - Jesus to the Jews, Cuomo to the Empire State;
- Both deflected others' efforts to push them to seek the top spot, <https://www.usatoday.com/story/news/politics/2020/03/31/andrew-cuomo-says-no-when-pressed-brother-presidential-run/5093212002/>;
- Neither sought to lead alone - Cuomo teamed with neighboring CT and NJ governors in forging a regional pact, while Jesus trained and teamed with his disciples;
- Both are masterful storytellers - Jesus with parables, and Cuomo with PowerPoints;
- Neither evidenced fear to present hard truths to their audiences;
- Neither was afraid to criticize constructively yet tastefully;
- Both showed anger when appropriate, un-apologetically; and
- Both challenged the Establishment, although each was the Establishment!

Q: When confronted with crises, which “King of Queens” style will you follow?

“DO YOU TRUST GOD?”

Job 13:15 says, “Though he slay me, yet will I trust Him.”

You know, there is no doubt that we are living in a time when the devil is trying to destroy our faith, so we have to be strong right now.

It’s time to draw strength from the word of God, like we find with Job, because Job knew that no matter what we go through, it all comes down to the same question, “Do you trust God?”

You see, Job understood that it was a matter of trust and if we trust in God, then it doesn’t really matter. Job understood that when things don’t make sense and when he doesn’t understand God’s ways, he says, “I will still trust in Him.”

Job’s message is for all of us, especially in these difficult times, that no matter what happens, I’ve decided to trust in God.

Now, sometimes we may say that we trust God, but we don’t act like it, because we are still anxious about everything.

Remember, the Apostle Paul tells us, “Be anxious for nothing, but pray about everything.” Because sometimes we can’t just “figure” everything out, we have to trust God and have faith in Him.

You see, not only did Job trust in God, but he also had faith in God, because faith and trust go hand in hand. So, let us be strong in our faith and continue to trust in the sovereignty of God.

Stay encouraged, my brothers and sisters!

COVID-19 and Fingernails: To Cut or Not to Cut

from BlackDoctor.org

In normal times, having beautiful long nails is desired. The nail business was booming before mid-March. But did you know, viruses (yes, coronavirus) and bacteria can lurk underneath those beautiful nails! They can be a hotbed for all kind of germs. Is it time to cut them off, for now?!

Well, if it were up to the Center for Disease Control (CDC), we would all wear our nails short. "Fingernails should be kept short, and the undersides should be cleaned frequently with soap and water. Because of their length, longer fingernails can harbor more dirt and bacteria than short nails, thus potentially contributing to the spread of infection," as stated on the CDC website.

Many women just fell to the floor! For those that say cutting their nails is not an option, here is some advice for protecting yourself and others, especially now.

Get a fingernail brush!

Having the right tool is critical for keeping your nails sanitized. This will help you reach underneath to the nail bed where you normally can't reach well.

Stop biting your nails.

During these uncertain times, we are all anxious because you don't know when this crisis will end! When you're nervous and thinking about what to do next, you start biting your nails or you put your hand up to your mouth and play with your teeth (that's me). We must stop biting our nails and keep our hands out of our mouths.

Keeping your nails cut short, or at least clean, is a small step in staying safe.

Called 2 Preach

by Pastor/Founder Michael D. Rice
Grace Gethsemane Mission Church

In "This" Way!

Acts 27:44

In this way, everyone reached land safely.

This final verse of this chapter tells of the survival of the 276 people aboard a ship that had been destroyed in a storm.

The Apostle Paul was on that ship, as a prisoner, and had encouraged everyone by sharing with them what the angel of the Lord had told him in the night.

That message was that only the ship would be destroyed but no loss of life. This story also includes a part that speaks about a plan by the soldiers to kill the prisoners to prevent any of them from escaping by swimming away.

What those soldiers were ignorant of is what so many people are ignorant of; that is, the Sovereignty of God. HE sits high and looks low. His Sovereign will for Paul was that he got to Jerusalem (Acts 20:24). The storm was a "part" of the journey, but the destination was Jerusalem.

What believers must learn and live by is the truth that God orders their steps. Verse 44 tells us that there was only one way for everyone on the boat to reach land safely.

Here's how God did it: He used the broken pieces of the ship for all those who could not swim and those who could, did.

That was God's providential way of achieving His purpose for Paul and the others on that ship. God has a "this way" for every situation.

Wait for His revelation.

"Reactionary movements can't sustain themselves unless they find something new to catch and burn on."

- N.K. Jemisin

COVID-19, Graduation & Me

by Raquel Reeves

Covid-19. The virus that took the world by storm. When you picture your final days of your college career, what do you envision? Probably graduation pictures, senior celebrations, commencement practice and then graduation, right? Entering into my senior year of college, there was one thing I didn't anticipate ... Covid-19.

As my final spring week came to a close on the campus of Alabama A&M University, the buzz about Covid-19, or Coronavirus 2019, had made its way to the Rocket City. Students were notified on March 12, 2020, that the campus would be closing and that students were to evacuate the campus no later than March 20! I believe the University gave us a good amount of time to pack up and make accommodations. Based on surrounding schools and social media, I already knew this campus closure was approaching.

On my journey home, I got to thinking about all the things that I had planned and the little things that seemed so small at the time that turned out to mean a lot. I was really looking forward to having my first real Spring Break with my friends, a 7-day post-grad cruise; graduation pictures; the graduation ceremony; and even the Honors Convocation. These are just some little things that we seniors "expected" to happen—not knowing that it could be taken away from us in an instant.

We can't even officially call ourselves "graduates" or "alumni." We spent our whole lives in school in hopes of one day knowing that our families would see us walk across the stage to get a degree, with that brief moment making all of those sleepless nights worth it.

Transitioning to online classes took a lot away from the classes I'm currently enrolled in. You can't really experience a directing class or an internship via Blackboard. Therefore, for a majority of my classes, I just had to submit one final assignment and that concluded the class. This virus not only eliminated all of my senior festivities, but it eliminated most of the work, as well. For most, you would think this would be a good thing, but I'm not even getting the chance to really learn with this education I spent so much money on. Yes, in classes like Spanish we're still participating and taking quizzes, but are we really absorbing what these professors are saying from 500 miles away?

When I think of A&M, I think of family. I went to a predominately white high school where I didn't really have many friends. Nobody knew who I was. But when I came to A&M, everyone saw the real me, wanted to get to know me and accepted me. I gained lifelong friendships, an amazing sisterhood and memories that I'll always cherish—from going to fried chicken Tuesday and Wednesday—to walking to Blessin's with my friends. From block parties on The Block to holiday celebrations in 'the caf'—A&M has always felt like home, and I couldn't have received a better college experience from anywhere else. I'll always be a proud Bulldog.

However, as a member of the "graduating" senior class, I must admit that Covid-19 has affected my life tremendously. This wasn't exactly how I planned to end the last semester of my undergraduate career. All festivities have been postponed, cancelled and/or refunded. But although my time has ended prematurely, I will say the memories I've made over the past four years are ones I'll be able to keep with me for a lifetime.

I will always remember 2020!
