Alabama State Games XXXVIII Ceremony Set

The 37th annual Alabama State Games Opening Ceremony will be hosted by the city of Huntsville, and Madison County on Friday, June 7, at 7 p.m. at the Von Braun Center Propst Arena.

The Alabama State Games takes pride in the Opening Ceremony, which features Olympic traditions such as the Parade of Athletes, the running of the Olympic Torch, and lighting of the Olympic Flame.

The Opening Ceremony will showcase the rich history of the city of Huntsville and Madison County, with a special presentation honoring the history of the great state of Alabama as it celebrates its Bicentennial, as well as the 50th anniversary of the Landing on the Moon. The Opening Ceremony will be televised Live statewide on Alabama Public Television and include an exciting mix of hi-tech lasers and pyrotechnics, and music.

Juneteenth Sets Stage for Bicentennial Event

“It’s not celebrated as a national holiday but that doesn’t make it any less important. June 19, 1865 – the date enslaved people in Texas discovered they were freed by the Emancipation Proclamation two years earlier – sets the tone for a two-day celebration in Huntsville.

On June 15, experience the importance of faith and spirituality in the African-American community at an old-fashioned campmeeting and baptism at Big Spring Park. Music from gospel choirs, and church picnic food will help to recreate the campmeeting aura at this former baptismal site of St. Bartley PB Church – Alabama’s oldest African-American congregation. Residents are invited to march in two processions to begin simultaneously at 10 a.m. and merge at Big Spring Park. One procession will march from St. John AME Church on Monroe Street, and the other from the St. Bartley historical marker in front of Progress Bank on Williams Avenue. Attendees are encouraged to wear attire from the 1900s.

On June 16, the significance of Church Street to local black history is honored with the unveiling of a historical marker at 2 p.m. on the corner of Holmes Avenue and Church Street, next to the WHNT News 19 building.

At 3 p.m. the Church Street Festival of Voices at the Huntsville Depot will highlight Huntsville black history. Actors representing close to 60 local notables such as Dr. William Hooper Council and Anna Knight will share stories. Food trucks will sell food from the Church Street era, and attendees can give their best karaoke performance of songs by musical legends.

Both events are free. For more information about African Americans for Completing the Story in Huntsville-Madison County, visit the website www.completinghistoryAL200.org

Object Lessons from "Conquering Cancer Conference" (Part 1)

Read 1 Cor. 5:6-8, The Voice Bible

More than 150 of us attended May 18th's "Conquering Cancer Conference" downtown.

Co-presenters naturopath Dr. Curtis Eakins and nutritionist/breast cancer survivor/wife Paula introduced grocery-store foods to control cancer, while Pastor Debleaire Snell presented the "benefits" of its journey.

Defined as "the uncontrollable growth of abnormal cells in the body" (Cancer Treatment Centers of America), cancer resides in each of our cells, from birth; abnormal growth or you've-got-cancer diagnosis occurs often when we consume processed meats like fried chicken, beef or bacon.

The Eakins demonstrated scientifically how consuming such natural foods as un-peeled apples, red grapes, cabbage, carrots, and beets will not only stave off but also reduce excessive cancerous growths. Yet, one never eliminates cancer, but simply reduces its poisons by managing it.

Snell offered biblically that such sicknesses "clarify priorities and make one both stop procrastinating and contemplate eternal realities."

Substitute "Cancer Conference" with "Ego-holism"

Mirroring the CTCA's cancer definition is "ego-holism" - i.e., the addiction to self, the uncontrollable growth of abnormal impulses within the bodies of persons, activities, events, and organizations. Starting today, however, neither you nor I have to be its victims any longer. Here's why . . . and later, we'll discuss "Here's How . . ."

Here's Why ...

Our bodies both create continually new cells and "retire" old cells, CTCA explains; but some of those retirees simply won't leave! Instead, these deadbeats hang around and amass into what we call "tumors."

When these tumors reach excessive levels, one is said to "have cancer." With proper management, however, those cancer levels can be reduced but never cured, solved or eliminated. Like ego-holism. Like alcoholism and choco-holism, ego-holism (what most of us self-diagnose as "s/he's got issues!") anchors itself on excesses of self - both big and little egos.

Champion Game Plan for Life

by Preston Brown

"THE PROBLEM WITH PRIDE"

In Luke 18:9-14, Jesus tells a parable for those who were confident of their own righteousness. He tells them, "All those who exalt themselves will be humbled, and those who humble themselves will be exalted."

We live in a time where some people make themselves look good at the expense of others. This is one of the problems with Pride. We need to realize that Pride is a very dangerous sin. Now why is this? Well, it's because many people that are infested with pride don't realize that they are prideful. In other words, a person who is a drunkard knows that they are a drunkard. A thief knows that he is a thief, but many times a proud person doesn't realize that they are prideful. Like we find in this scripture. Here we have a despised tax collector and an esteemed Pharisee.

Now while the Pharisee is praying, he goes on and on about how he was not like this tax collector, because of all the things that he had done. Whereas the tax collector, while he was praying, begged for mercy and forgiveness. And, Jesus said that the one who went home justified was the tax collector because of his humility. The Pharisee went home "dignified".

Today, I believe that each one of us will go home one of the two ways. Either we will go home dignified with our pride on full display, or we will go home justified with the humility that comes with it. You see, the problem with Pride is that it has a spirit of un-gratefulness to God. In other words, whenever God has blessed us with so many things, some people act like they deserve it or that they have earned it. So, they start feeling like they are better than other people, just like the Pharisee in our scripture.

Now don't be surprised if that person you see in the mirror also has pride, because we all do. Matter of fact, we are born with it. But the difference is how we deal with the pride that is inside of us. And, the way we deal with it is to become more humble each day. James 4:10 says, "Humble yourselves before the Lord and He will exalt you". Also the bible tells us to love one another, because love will conquer pride....Stay encouraged, my brothers and sisters.

Global Ties Hosts African Youth Leaders

A delegation of 19 high school students and 4 mentors from Nigeria, Rwanda, Zambia and Zimbabwe were recently hosted by Global Ties Alabama.

While in Alabama, the Pan Africa Youth Leadership Program participants gain a deeper level of understanding of civic rights, respect for diversity and the importance of community engagement. Another PAYLP delegation for the French-speaking countries of Africa will be hosted July 31-August 13.

Prior to their arrival in Huntsville, Ala., the participants complete an orientation in Atlanta, Georgia. Delegates also meet with David DaDa, Director of Division of Youth Services at

City of Birmingham Mayor's Office. Additional activities will include visiting and exploring African American history and culture at Birmingham Civil Rights Institute.

In Alabama, delegates will focus on developing action plans to present to professional judges at a pitch competition and further apply what they learned to serve the needs of their respective communities. While delving into civil and community programs, African youth leaders meet with city government officials. They will tour higher education institutes, such as University of Alabama in Huntsville, Alabama A&M University and Oakwood University, and attend leadership training sessions in pursuit of capacity building.

The Pan Africa Youth Leadership Program supports long-range U.S. foreign policy priorities by offering secondary school youth (ages 15-18) and adult educators the opportunity to explore themes through three-week, intensive exchanges in the U.S. A key component of the program is to develop community-based projects in their home communities to affect change upon their return home.

"Used to"

Acts 3:9-10

The NIV translation of the Bible records that when the people saw the lame man entering the temple with Peter and John, he was leaping and praising God.

This was an obvious opposite that was both notable and noticeable. The text says that the people recognized the man as the one who "use to" sit begging.

His physical condition had changed, for he use to be lame, now he was leaping. His social condition had changed; for whereas he use to be seen pitifully as a paralyzed beggar, he was now a participating benefactor in the praise and worship of God.

saw himself as being able to choose to accept the hand up rather than just the handouts.

His spiritual condition changed; for whereas he use to be relegated to being banned from going inside the temple to worship, was now a fellow worshiper partnering with those in that sacred space where worship was not just "heard" from the outside, but whose hands, voice, feet, and head were engaged in contributing to the depth and decibels of the praise and worship that emanated from the inside.

As quiet as it is sometimes kept, every believer has a "use to" that shouldn't be silently hidden but seen and heard.

Spotlight on Our Elders ... Featuring Mrs. Carolyn Rice Florence

As "Miss Kamama" (the Cherokee word for "butterfly"), Carolyn Rice Florence has shared her message of social etiquette for over 50 years with all age groups. As a self-made businesswoman and community volunteer, she has championed the art of social graces.

Florence's quest to transform average people into models of respectful behavior began in the 1960s with her class, "Fascinating Womanhood," which taught females the finer points of being women. Wanting to expand her knowledge base, Florence used a mix of college and specialty courses to broaden her own education. Florence studied clothing textile and merchandising at Andrews University in Berrien Springs, Mich.; and family and consumer sciences and public relations at Faith Grant College in Birmingham, Ala. She was mentored by Maxine Powell, a Motown talent agent and American Etiquette instructor, and Letitia Baldrige, Jacqueline Kennedy's social secretary.

She received certifications from the National Children's Etiquette Society and Huntsville's Neil Bryant Modeling and Charm School and Tiffany's Academy of Personal Development. She also trained and worked as a make-up artist for Fashion Fair Cosmetics.

As Florence's personal training evolved, so did her message. Along with a focus on manners, her trainings grew to include image consulting, dining skills, character education, and international business protocol.
